Tories surrender to IRA terrorism

TORY PRIME MINISTER John Major has been negotiating the surrender of Ulster to IRA murderers. His latest Anglo-Irish "peace package" announces that "Britain has no self-interest, strategic or economic interest in Northern Ireland." It states that the people of Ireland, north and south, have the right to "bring about a united Ireland, if that is their wish." Significantly, the Irish Prime Minister Albert Reynolds has refused to drop articles 2 and 3 of the Irish constitution which demand that Ulster be handed over to the Republic. The Tories have announced that IRA representatives will be invited to round-table negotiations if they agree to a "cease fire." The Northern Ireland Minister helpfully advised that the Government would not require the IRA to hand over its weapons and explosives before attending any talks. Most grotesquely of all, the Tories have hinted at an amnesty for terrorists currently serving prison sentences.

The Tory Government's negotiations with the IRA have been shrouded in lies and deceit from the very beginning.

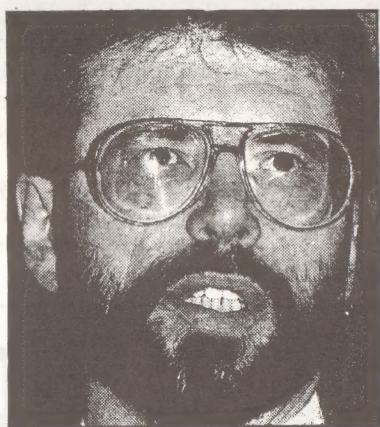

TERRORISTS

Two months ago John Major told us that the very idea of negotiating with the terrorists "turned his stomach." Yet days later he was forced to admit that secret negotiations between the Government and the IRA had been going on for over a year — even during the appalling Warrington bomb massacre in which two children were slaughtered.

John Major must be a very stupid man if he thinks that appeasing terrorists will produce "peace." The truth is, that this whole nonsense is a desperate attempt to deflect attention from the appalling economic mess which the Tories have caused; it has nothing to do with any concern for the welfare of the people of Ulster. If anything, it will make matters worse because the terrorists have now been shown that their violence gets results.

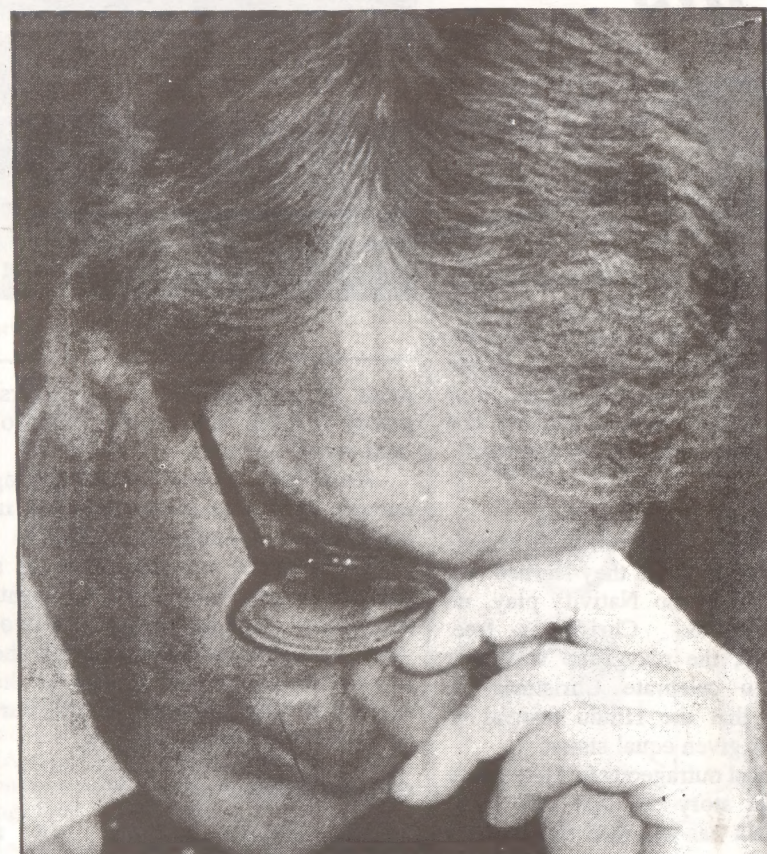

HANGMAN'S ROPE

The only way to deal with the likes of the IRA and Sinn Fein is to fight fire with fire. If the British National Party was in power, Gerald Adams and Co would be swinging from the end of a hangman's rope, and our security forces would be given the freedom to ruthlessly exterminate known terrorists. If this policy is too shocking for 'liberal' types, they should spare a thought for the thousands of innocent victims slaughtered by the IRA.

IRA TERRORISTS (Right) and their Sinn Fein apologists such as Gerald Adams (Left) would be wiped out in 48 hours when the BNP is in power. It is pointless attempting to appease such creatures — violence is the only thing they understand. Our security forces should be told: "Shoot to kill!"

TORY POPULARITY AT ALL-TIME LOW

NO WONDER John Major (Left) is not looking too happy. The Tories last month achieved their lowest opinion poll rating since winning power in 1979 — and Major's deceit over the secret deal with the IRA was at least partly to blame.

An ICM/Observer poll found that only eleven per cent of voters felt the Government was 'trustworthy', more than three quarters believe it is dishonest and over ninety per cent think the Government is out of touch with ordinary people. John Major's personal rating has sunk to only fourteen per cent, the lowest of any Prime Minister in history.

Interestingly, almost half those questioned said they did not trust any politicians from the main parties, confirming the growing swing towards the British National Party. A third of young voters were so disgusted with Britain that they said they would like to emigrate.

The unpopularity of the Tories is well-founded. They have wrecked the economy, given British sovereignty to the Common Market, imported millions of immigrants, put three million on the dole, and most recently negotiated the surrender of Ulster to the IRA.

British Nationalist

No.139 JANUARY 1994
Editor: John Morse

VICTORY '94!

AS WE ENTER the new year, the British National Party can look forward with a great deal of confidence to further electoral success. We have come a long way since 1982, when the BNP was formed in response to the collapse of the nationalist movement.

Unlike previous nationalist parties, the BNP is based on sound leadership and a disciplined organisational structure. This has ensured that we have avoided the damaging splits that plagued the movement during the 1970s.

Of equal importance is the improved political climate of today's world, which has seen the growth of movements similar to our own throughout Europe, most recently in Russia.

Our growing confidence must not, however, lead to complacency. The BNP is not going to be swept to power on the basis of one local council seat. We must fight hard to ensure credible results in the next round of local elections before the electorate will take us seriously as a national force.

Politics is all about credibility: It doesn't matter that our policies command overwhelming support, if the public doesn't think we can win. The drive for credibility also involves making the necessary changes associated with a political party in its mature stage of growth. These include improving organisational efficiency and adopting a serious and mature attitude towards dealing with the public. The BNP is not a street-gang or a pressure group, it is a serious political party intent on winning power.

So long as we ensure tight discipline and a mature attitude, the public will feel able to entrust their votes to us. This is the only sure road to electoral power.

GOLLIWOG GESTAPO

THE DECISION by Greenwich council to ban one of its registered childminders from keeping golliwogs is a perfect example of the bullying and intimidation employed by the extreme left (and the soft Tory right) against ordinary, decent British people who happen to disagree with multi-racialism.

The left traditionally describes anyone to the right of John Major as a "fascist" or "Nazi." Greenwich council has once again demonstrated that the Labour Party itself could teach the Gestapo a thing or two.

As if sending a gang of Thought Police to raid homes suspected of harbouring innocent golliwogs was not bad enough, one of the power-mad lefties even had the cheek to deliver a propaganda booklet ordering childminders not to use books or jigsaws depicting "middle class white children." It is no wonder that ordinary British whites are turning to the BNP for protection from these left-wing bully-boys.

CHANNEL 4's CHRISTMAS FAIRIES

Perverts on parade in sick publicity stunt by left-wing TV bosses

THE ONLY 'Queen's speech' on Channel Four this Christmas was delivered by geriatric queer Quentin Crisp as part of a 'Gay Christmas celebration'.

On Christmas Eve, left-wing 'comedians' Julian Clary, Steven Fry and Sandra Bernhard cavorted in a queer and lesbian show called Camp Christmas. They were joined by former tennis-player Martina Navratilova and Communards singer Andrew Bell.

HOMOSEXUALS

Pop singers Elton John and Boy George were among the homosexual 'stars' paraded for the edification of television viewers — presumably including children.

The nine-day queer festival, which began on Christmas Eve, is part of the Government's continuing propaganda effort to convince the public that homosexuality is 'normal'.

Homosexual propaganda is already being targeted at children through state school education, and the Tory pressure group TORCHE (Tory Campaign for Homosexual Equality) is campaigning alongside the Labour Party to allow queers to have sex with boys as young as sixteen.

The use of queer pop singers and comedians is designed to influence impressionable young people into accepting homosexuality. The same tactics have already been used for years to push multiracialism onto an unenthusiastic public.

Drunken Labour MP assaults policeman

A DRUNKEN Labour MP has been found guilty of a vicious assault on a policeman — but has walked free from court and will retain his £34,000 a year job at the House of Commons.

VICIOUS thug George Foulkes will keep his cushy MP's job despite assaulting a police officer

STAGGERING

George Foulkes was seen by witnesses staggering into the street from a lavish banquet held by the Scotch Whisky Association, whereupon he barged into a number of women pedestrians.

One of the women, 70-year-old Rosemary Rendell who walks with the aid of two sticks, was knocked to the floor by Foulkes.

When two police constables were called to restrain him, Foulkes struggled with one of them and struck PC John Williams on the chin.

Bow Street magistrate Ronald Bartle described the Labour MP's actions as 'disgraceful' — but took into account Foulkes' 'excellent' record of public service and the adverse effect that going to jail would have on his career.

Despite this disgraceful incident, Labour leader John Smith has not sacked Foulkes from his lucrative job as a Labour MP. The story typifies the brutality and arrogance of the bunch of thugs within the Labour Party.

If our MPs are allowed to get away with such vicious behaviour, it is no wonder that Britain's crime rate is spiralling out of control.

VICTIM Rosemary Rendell, a disabled 70-year-old, was knocked to the ground during Foulkes' drunken rampage through London

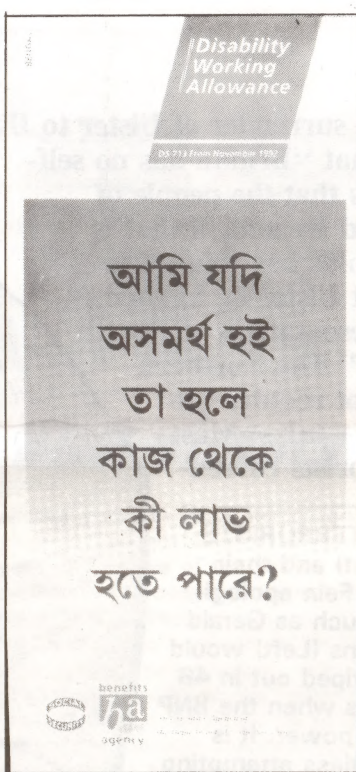

Benefits scandal Britain picks up the tab...

THE GOVERNMENT'S Benefits Agency has produced this handy guide to claiming disability working allowance (Right).

Handy, that is, if you happen to speak Bengali. There are other editions produced in Urdu, Greek, Chinese, and various other exotic tongues. We have even spotted one or two copies in English, though these are rather rare.

The question which needs to be asked is: If claimants cannot speak English, how can they be 'actively seeking work'?

An even more urgent question is: Why are British taxpayers funding benefits (such as income support and housing benefit) which can be claimed by foreigners who have paid no British taxes or National Insurance contributions?

POLITICAL CORRECTNESS GONE MAD!

Christmas cancelled and golliwogs banned as British way of life comes under threat from 'anti-racist' industry

AS MILLIONS of Brits return to work after the festive season, we should spare a thought for the thousands of kids who almost didn't get a Christmas this year — thanks to the small-minded viciousness of the 'anti-racist' lobby.

It began with the St Mary's playgroup in Lewisham, which cancelled its Christmas festivities after 'advice' from an outfit called the Pre-School Playgroups Association that there "should be arrangements for celebrating festivals from all cultures."

'GUIDELINES'

The PSPA's 'voluntary guidelines' on Christmas are issued to over 20,000 playgroups, even those with predominantly white children. A spokescreature for the Association added the following helpful hint: "In an ideal world, the Association would like groups to celebrate Divali [a Hindu festival] as well as Christmas. It is between the ages of three and five that attitudes and prejudices are formed."

TEARS

Many of the children at St Mary's burst into tears when they learned that there would be no Nativity play, no crib, and no Christmas tree. Fortunately, the playgroup was later allowed to celebrate Christmas on condition that the Hindu festival of Divali was given equal status.

The most outrageous fact to emerge from this story is that the Tory Government has awarded the PSPA a grant of £1.5million of tax-payers' money to push its revolting brand of 'anti-racist' agitprop.

As if this story is not disgusting enough, there is an even worse case in another part of southeast London.

Thamesmead was the scene of a massive British National Party 'Rights for Whites' demonstration a couple of years ago. Whites there need all the support they can get, thanks to the antics of the communist Labour-controlled Greenwich council.

GOLLIWOG

The council recently sent a

Rastafarian 'Inspector' to examine the house of registered childminder Deena Newton. The Rastafarian was outraged to see a golliwog amongst Mrs Newton's collection of toys, whereupon Greenwich council refused to renew her registration certificate.

The Rastafarian was not only offended by the "racist toy," but also by the fact that Mrs Newton reads her children Noddy stories. Mrs Newton and her husband Paul have since been visited by another 'Inspector', June Martin, who left them a booklet by the 'Working Group Against Racism in Children's Resources'.

GATT deal spells doom for UK jobs

Far-east imports will flood in

THE RECENT deal struck between Europe and America over the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) has been widely trumpeted as a 'triumph' for world trade.

But who are the real winners? Certainly not Britain, whose home industries now risk being decimated by a flood of cheap imports from the Far East, over which we will have no control.

THE NEGOTIATORS: Mickey Kantor and Leon Brittan have something very important in common...

states such as Britain will be pawns in a massive game of profit and loss.

HOME INDUSTRIES

What's left of our home industries simply cannot compete with the sweat-labour of third world countries such as China, Singapore or Mexico, where the wage rate is a bowl of rice a day.

From textiles to electronics, Britain will lose out as investment is steadily withdrawn from this country and pumped into the third world.

With no tariff barriers to even things out, the UK economy will face increasing attack from a flood of imports from multinational companies operating abroad.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCE SPIVS WRECKING OUR ECONOMY

THE BRITISH National Party has always believed that finance capital for British industry should be firmly in the hands of the British people.

The Tory, Labour and Liberal parties, in contrast, have always been happy to leave control of our economy in the hands of alien speculators and international finance spivs — for the simple reason that these parties are largely financed by such parasites.

One such group were involved in the recent Guinness share-rigging scandal. The ring leader, Ernest Saunders (né Schleyer) served less than a year in the luxury Ford Open Prison. Many of Schleyer's fellow defendants were donors to the Conservative Party, including 'Sir' Jack Lyons (who was stripped of his knighthood after being convicted) and Gerald Ronson. Ronson and another defendant, Anthony Parnes, were convicted while Roger Seelig walked free on the grounds of ill health and Ephraim Margulies was not charged.

One of the problems with exposing foreign crooks who donate to the Tories and Labour is the secrecy with which the gifts are shrouded. For example, of the £22million income declared by the Tories in 1992, no less than £17million came from "unexplained" sources.

'Robert Maxwell' (né Jan Ludvik Hoch) is believed to have given Labour a gift of £31,000 in 1986. He became a Labour MP in 1964, and leased his mansion home, Headington Hill Hall, from Oxford City Council.

After his death and burial in Israel, it was discovered that 'Maxwell' had stolen millions of pounds from his employees' pension fund to try and pay off the debts of his ailing financial empire.

Another contributor to the old parties was Turkish bail bandit Asil Nadir, who gave the Tories £440,000 before fleeing to Cyprus.

Of course, many of the foreigners who control Britain's economy are acting perfectly legally. George Soros, for example, made a billion dollars by speculating against the pound during the infamous Black Wednesday, when a run on Sterling forced Britain to quit the ERM at a cost of billions of pounds.

The likes of Soros are able to shuffle millions of pounds around the international market, moving their capital to whichever country yields the most profit.

Of course, such parasites are precisely the sort of people who have an interest in keeping the Tories in power.

Asian businessmen gave over a million pounds to the Tories during 1992. On the first anniversary of John Major's coming to power, a fund-raising dinner was held at Downing Street at which no less than nine foreign billionaires were invited.

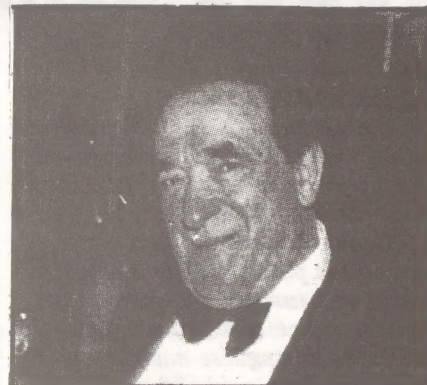

Asian backers of the Tories include the Hinduja, the richest Asian family living in Britain.

Last year the Tories gained over £1million from Asian businessmen. No wonder the Tories want more immigration!

NO WONDER John Major wants more immigration — it's a nice little earner for the Tories!

THE GUINNESS MEN: Ernest 'Saunders', Jack Lyons, Lord Spenz, Gerald Ronson, Roger Seelig (what do they have in common?). With these kind of men running our industries, no wonder Britain's economy is collapsing.

COMMIE COUNCIL BAILS OUT JAMAICAN DRUG SMUGGLER

IT HAS BEEN REVEALED that a council's Social Services department paid a £3,500 fine to keep a teenaged drug smuggler out of jail. Senior police officers condemned the decision as "absolutely outrageous."

The 16-year-old girl, who was in care at the time of the incident, was caught trying to smuggle cocaine with a street value of £15,000 into Britain from Jamaica.

The girl faced a three-year prison sentence for possession, dealing and importing the drug, but senior officers at Lambeth Borough Council decided to bail her out to the tune of £3,500. One of the officers responsible for the decision was Social Services Director David Pope.

The council is run by a violently left-wing Labour majority, but even so, the decision sent shock-waves of anger through the local community. Chief constable John Hoddinott, chairman of the Chief Police Officers Crime Committee, said: "Police officers are doing all they can to deal with the drug problem in this country and we are faced with a decision like that. I don't know how Lambeth Social Services can justify spending public money in that way. It's absolutely outrageous."

The Labour-run council was unable to explain how a girl in its care was allowed to go to Jamaica.

Outrage at Jamaica trip for tearaway

A COUNCIL in the West Midlands planned to send a young tearaway on a three-week holiday to Jamaica to "return to his roots and get in touch with his heritage."

The 16-year-old was facing several serious charges including joy-riding and aggravated burglary. The expense-paid trip only came to light by accident when magistrates were asked to vary the youth's bail conditions so he could have his passport back. But he had already broken his bail conditions and was instead sent to a secure unit in Wolverhampton. Left-wing Sandwell council was forced to try and get a refund on the youth's £300 air ticket.

Angry whites demanded to know why such trips were not available to law-abiding old folk, rather than violent tearaways.

Asians jailed for huge false passport racket

FORGED BRITISH PASSPORTS were being sold in India for £5,000 a time, Preston Crown Court heard.

Moshin Patel, 20, Gulam Ahmed, 41, and five others pleaded guilty to conspiracy to obtain passports by deception. Mr Eric Lamb, prosecuting, told the court that between January 1990 and March 1992, 76 false applications for passports were made. These dried up once the ring had been smashed. Passports were sold in India for between £4,000 and £5,000, and a high profit was made by the conspirators. The passports enabled illegal immigrants to enter the country, but it was impossible to determine how many had done so.

It was clear that the conspirators knew all the various methods of obtaining passports, including using information from stolen passports and those belonging to deceased people on new applications. Signatures of people such as doctors were photocopied and used on false applications.

Four of the guilty men were jailed for terms of between four months and three years. This means that none of them is likely to serve more than a year in jail for what was a massive and highly lucrative criminal fraud operation. The case also begs the question: How many more passport frauds are going on which are NOT detected?

TEARAWAY GETS FREE PLEASURE CRUISE

BRITISH TAXPAYERS are footing the bill for a teenage arsonist's luxury cruise.

The holiday is being organised by a £44,000-a-year private school which the 13-year-old boy is now attending following his conviction for arson, criminal damage and burglary earlier this year.

Meanwhile, ratepayers in Sunderland have discovered that they are paying for four teenaged thugs to go on holidays to Spain and France.

It appears that with the spiralling deterioration in law and order, the Government is trying to bribe young hooligans by rewarding them with expensive foreign holidays.

This newspaper promises that when the British National Party is in power, vicious young thugs won't be feeling the mediterranean sun on their backs — they will feel the sharp pain of the birch rod.

There has been far too much emphasis on 'helping' the criminal. We think it is time we spared some thought for the VICTIMS of crime. There are millions of needy pensioners and law-abiding families who would love to be able to go on holiday. We should give THEM a chance, instead of rewarding the selfishness and viciousness of the violent minority.

SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS

South African whites culled by Mandela's death squads

BRITISH kinsfolk in South Africa are facing extermination as the country is handed over to Nelson Mandela's communist ANC.

With the ending of white rule, South Africa has been plunged into lawless chaos as competing tribes and criminal gangs fight for supremacy. The country's whites are arming themselves to protect their families from murder, rape and robbery on an unprecedented scale.

Recently, two white women were raped and butchered while sunbathing on a beach. The latest victim of anti-white violence was 27-year-old Amy Biehl, whose car was ambushed by a mob near the notorious Guguletu township. The woman was dragged from her car and stoned to death by a crowd who were screaming Pan African Congress slogans.

ACCUSED

Three men accused of the crime were released when a key witness refused to testify against them for "political reasons."

There is increasing conflict between black and white policemen as a new, pro-ANC trade union has increasingly tried to politicise the force. Last month, senior white officers were trying to locate firearms held by 375 black policemen who were dismissed from the Port Elizabeth force following a strike and mutiny.

During recent demonstrations, armed members of the pro-ANC police trade union have screamed "kill the Boer" and "one settler, one bullet."

Tories vow: Adams will stay on the air

THE TORY Home Secretary, Michael 'Howard', is to continue to allow the broadcasting of propaganda statements by Sinn Fein president and IRA apologist Gerald Adams.

This is despite the fact that 'Howard' has signed an exclusion order banning Adams from the British mainland. A Home Office spokesman said that 'Howard' believed Adams "was or is concerned in the commission, preparation or instigation of acts of terrorism connected with Northern Ireland."

EXTERMINATED

If this is the case, Adams should not just be excluded from Britain, he should be hunted down and exterminated by the security forces. If Britain had a BNP Government, this is precisely what would happen.

LIAR

John Major himself has been exposed as a liar and a hypocrite in his recent grovelling negotiations with the terrorists. After claiming that talks with the IRA would "turn his stomach," Major was forced to admit that his Government at the highest levels has been secretly negotiating with the terrorists for over a year.

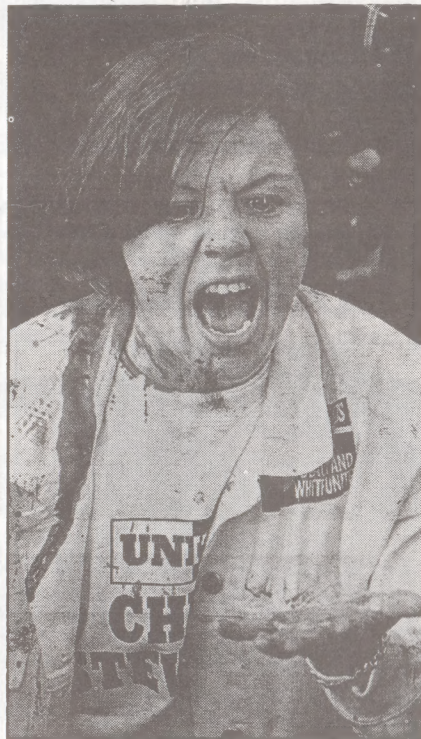

The Tories are of course not the only ones flirting with IRA spokesmen. Millionaire socialist MP Anthony Wedgewood-Benn has just invited Gerald Adams to Chesterfield for "talks".

SELFISH PARASITES!

What we would do with hippie rabble

BRITAIN is being plagued by selfish, left-wing hippies who live off the backs of ordinary working people.

Many of these parasites have taken to travelling around the country in clapped out vehicles, spreading litter, excrement and disease. They pause

STRONGER discipline in schools and tougher legal controls would help prevent the anti-social activities of leftists such as Julie Waterson only long enough to pick up their Income Support Giro before moving on to create trouble elsewhere.

The violent mob who assaulted white working class people in Welling during 'anti-racist' demonstrations are typical of the thugs of the left.

Many of them are students, drug-addicts and anti-social drop-outs who see 'anti-racism' as the latest right-on fashion.

Like over-grown children, they are spoilt, sullen and arrogant — in fact, perfect examples of the selfish society created by the old political parties.

When the BNP is in power, these parasites will get a rude awakening. For a start, their Income Support and student grants will be cut off. Those who persist in anti-social behaviour will be rounded up and given some hard labour to do. They will be stripped, de-loused and given a decent haircut.

Only after they have made a firm commitment to behave like civilised human beings will they be allowed back into society.

JUDGE SLAMS ALIEN SPONGERS

ONE MAN who isn't happy about what's happening to Britain is magistrate Roger Davies.

The JP blew his top after dealing with a whole series of crimes committed by foreigners living off the back of the British taxpayer.

Among the low-life which has crossed his path were the Spanish junkie who turned to burglary despite living free in a £90-a-night hotel, the Portuguese man up on driving charges paid £88 a week plus rent by the DSS, the Italian AIDS carrier charged with robbery and fraud despite his £540 a month social security payments, and the Moroccan 'student' accused of theft who lives rent-free in a luxury flat.

To these might be added many similar cases that have passed through the courts, including the multitude of arab and African fraudsters living off public handouts whose cases have reached the press in recent times.

It's no wonder they pick on Britain, which is now firmly established as the alien scroungers' land of milk and honey. They get so much free that they obviously assume we must be patsies who can be taken for any amount more.

Said Mr Davies, who presides at central London's Horseferry Road Court: "It's high time something was done. It offends many of us. As a nation we must be mad. Other countries aren't nearly so generous."

The cases which ever come to light in court are plainly only the tip of a vast iceberg.

Westminster pigs at the trough

HOW M.P.s SQUANDER YOUR MONEY

WESTMINSTER MPs are to spend £20million on luxury offices for themselves. The Establishment fat-cats are not satisfied with their £34,000 a year basic salary; they now want to spend millions on turning the Palace of Westminster into a veritable pleasure dome — using tax-payers' money.

Items of expenditure will include: £50,000 on works of art; £25,000 on a new bar for the MPs' dining room; £20,000 on a new coffee bar; £15,000 on new tea-room equipment; £34,000 on new toilets for female MPs; £50,000 on changing rooms.

The improved tea-room facilities are particularly important as this is where MPs entertain the communist 'anti-Nazi' gangs whom they use to attack the BNP.

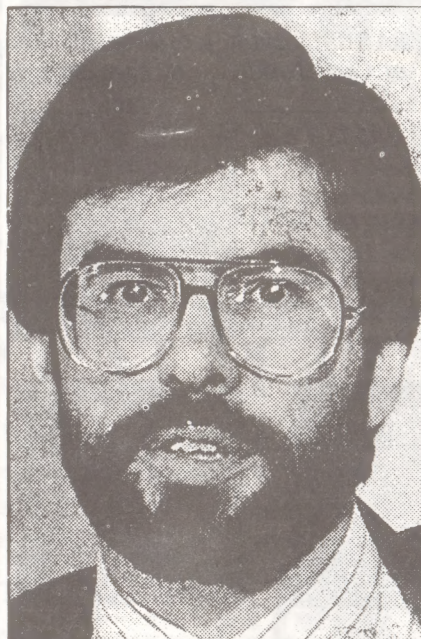

It seems the swines of Westminster have got their snouts firmly into the trough. Quite apart from the huge salaries they have awarded themselves, MPs can count on earning thousands from the scores of company directorships and lucrative 'consultancies'.

The latest disgusting scam is for MPs to charge the media up to £300 a time for interviews. In the case of the BBC, it is the licence payers who ultimately pick up the tab. Next time you see an MP spouting rubbish on the TV, remember: You're paying him a fat fee for doing it.

If you add all the perks to the basic, highly inflated salary, most MPs (whether Tory, Labour or Liberal) will be taking home at least a hundred grand a year — not bad for a bunch of ignorant louts who hardly bother to turn up for Parliamentary sessions.

It seems that earning all that loot is so tiring that during 1993 our MPs took no less than FIVE MONTHS holiday. Their summer 'recess' lasted ten weeks, while their Christmas holiday was a generous three weeks. And these are the people who are telling the rest of us to increase our productivity!

You've got to admire their 'chutzpah'...

ADAMS: The mouthpiece of the IRA

How YOU will be better off with a BNP Government

IT WILL BE LIKE THE WHOLE COUNTRY WINNING THE POOLS!

WHAT would Britain be like under a British National Party Government?

Since the recent stunning victory of Millwall, that question is of increasing interest to the vast numbers of ordinary British people who support the BNP.

ZERO IMMIGRATION

One of the most important policies of the BNP is of course repatriation of foreign immigrants. This will be achieved in a peaceful and humane fashion, and phased over a sensible period of time. It is our firm belief that the bulk of immigrants will in fact choose to leave of their own accord, once it is realised that most British people want to end the multi-racial experiment.

We will of course abolish all so-called "race relations" legislation and other forms of thought-control threatening the British way of life. Such laws will in any case be irrelevant as there will no longer be any coloured immigrants here.

The ending of multi-racialism is not the only benefit which British people will gain from a BNP Government.

ZERO UNEMPLOYMENT

Unemployment will be zero within months of the BNP being elected, thanks to our policies of selective import controls and repatriation of immigrants. More importantly, the BNP can promise permanent full employment, thanks to our economic policies which will harness British capital to essential British industries.

For example, instead of allowing Japanese car firms to build factories here, we will ensure that the British motor industry receives enough British capital to make it competitive in the world market.

LAW AND ORDER

Law and order will of course show a dramatic improvement within weeks of the BNP coming to power. We will immediately restore capital punishment as an option for judges to use in the worst cases of murder, particularly where children are the victims. We will also bring back the birch for acts of hooliganism such as mugging, joyriding, etc. The BNP will also introduce much longer prison sentences for serious offences such as rape.

Law and order will be improved not only by tougher punishments, but also by re-establishing a climate of decency, morality and respect for authority amongst our children and young people.

MORAL CLIMATE

We will put an immediate stop to the steady diet of left-wing brainwashing, pornography and violence on television which is currently undermining the moral climate of Britain.

We will insist that schools teach our children self-discipline, smartness and respect for authority. Left-wing and incompetent teachers will be sacked, and the emphasis will be on learning about British culture and history.

Once our children are taught self-respect and pride in their country, with firm prospects of employment following their education, we will see a return a much lower crime rate.

As one nationalist recently put it in a letter to BN, "When the BNP wins power, it will be like the whole country has won the pools!"

A BNP GOVERNMENT will build new towns and villages based on traditional designs such as Rye (Above), instead of the ugly housing estates and tower blocks built by the old parties. Britain's run-down inner cities will be refurbished with new housing, to which British families will have an automatic right.

This is true not just in the sense that we will all have a much higher standard of living, but more importantly in the improvement to our way of life.

NEW HOUSING

For a start, our decaying and filthy inner cities will be transformed with new housing and new industries. Not the repulsive tower blocks built by the old parties, but traditional-style housing so that people can live in proper communities again. Many of our older folk remember when everyone knew their neighbours, in areas like the East End of London or the 'Coronation Street' terraces of northern England.

The BNP will not only revitalise our cities, but will also build traditional-style villages in which British families with children will be automatically entitled to a home.

Since the war, the old parties have ruined our cities with tower blocks and alien immigration, so that too many people now live in isolation, afraid to go out of their front doors at night.

A BNP Government will repair the social fabric of Britain, and restore our country to the 'green and pleasant land' that it was years ago.

UGLY tower blocks such as this one in Bethnal Green, will be demolished and replaced with traditional-style houses. Foreign 'refugees' will be repatriated, so that native British families can be given immediate housing. There will be no more waiting lists, as repatriation will make thousands of homes available

WHEN the BNP is in power, British families will have an automatic right to new housing such as that shown here. We will build traditional-style villages and towns instead of forcing people into over-crowded cities. The BNP is also the only party to guarantee full employment

DIRTY TRICKS...

How Establishment politicians are subverting democracy to sabotage popularity of BNP

IT IS SIGNIFICANT that the enemies of the British National Party (and therefore of Britain) never seek to engage in a rational political debate with us.

MAJORITY

They know as well as we do that our policies are supported by the overwhelming majority of people in Britain. It is therefore understandable (though not forgivable) that the old parties should resort to underhand methods rather than honest debate against the BNP. If the old parties were to allow open debate on a 'level playing field', their shortcomings would be immediately apparent to the public. Such a policy would be akin to turkeys voting for Christmas!

ESTABLISHMENT

One of the most powerful weapons of the Establishment is the media. Last month we exposed how the Liberal Democrats in Tower Hamlets council put considerable pressure on the publishers of the East London Advertiser to demonstrate "total opposition to the BNP." It appears that Lib Dem council leader Peter Hughes felt the Advertiser's coverage of the BNP was too 'sympathetic.'

OPINION POLL

The paper had published an opinion poll showing support for the BNP running at almost 82 per cent!

Hughes' henchman Vincent Hanna duly telephoned the Managing Director of the Advertiser's publishers, (the GLEN group) telling him that

"before the Council entered into any further negotiations" with the company, the Council needed an assurance "that such coverage would be corrected in the future."

The "negotiations" in question were proposed arrangements for the GLEN group to be given a lucrative contract to publish the council's own newspaper.

CONTRACTS

It is our understanding that contracts for local government services should be awarded only on the basis of the lowest price obtained, and NOT on the basis of political favours.

The ordinary voters of Tower Hamlets are indeed fortunate that British Nationalist has been able to expose this secret correspondence. Otherwise, they would have trustingly accepted that the local press was continuing to give fair, unbiased coverage of local politics.

We have highlighted the case of Tower Hamlets, but it is certain that similar behind-the-scenes lobbying is going on all over the country, with both the national and local press being secretly pressurised give unfavourable coverage of the BNP.

Needless to say, television is the major form of brainwashing used by the Establishment. TV controllers are appointed by the Government, and so it is not surprising that there is a constant stream of left-wing, 'anti-racist' propaganda pouring out of our screens.

In fact, the more we look at the ways in which the authorities intimidate nationalists or 'racists', the more striking are the similarities with totalitarian communist states.

Just as in the former USSR, political dissidents risk losing their employment. Elsewhere in this paper we report the story of a woman who had her child-minding licence (and therefore her livelihood) revoked for refusing to get rid of a golliwog. An Essex-based communist, with the blessing of the Government, publishes the addresses and workplaces of nationalists to enable intimidation and dismissal from employment. Greenwich Labour council suspended an employee who was allegedly sighted at a BNP rally.

We have evidence that communist groups are mobilising left-wing students to register and vote against the BNP. In East London colleges, posters are going up advising students from outside Tower Hamlets to register as local electors in order to vote against the BNP next May. The posters helpfully advise: "Students from Europe and Commonwealth countries can also vote."

In other words, the Establishment parties are so desperate for votes that they are importing outsiders from Africa, Asia and Europe to vote in British local council elections!

Living in Tower Hamlets During Term?

Have You Registered to Vote? If Not - Do It Now!

There are local elections in London on May 5th next year. This is your chance to kick out the racist BNP and prevent them from propagating their politics of hate in Tower Hamlets.

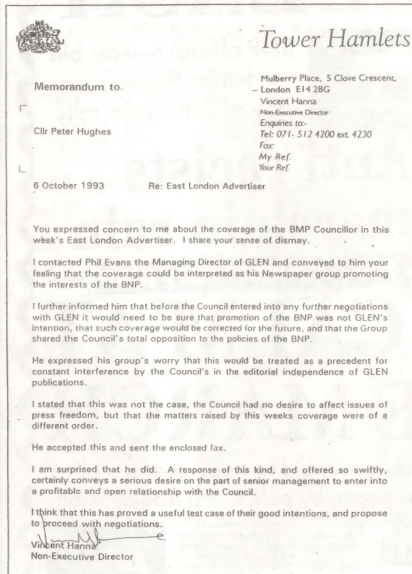

Register to vote now ...

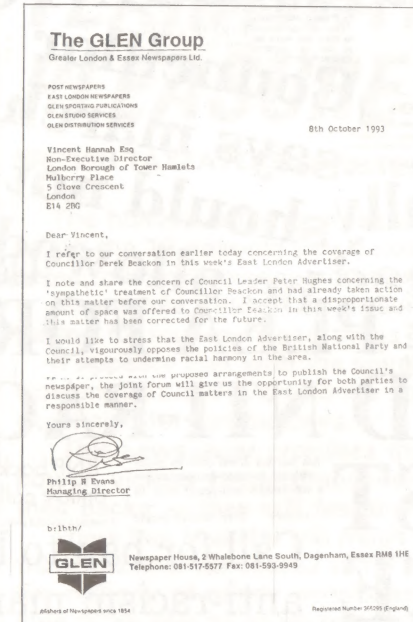

You can make a difference.

Contact your Neighbourhood Office in Tower Hamlets if you have not received a form or collect one from the Students Union. Forms must be returned by October 12th. Students from Europe and Commonwealth countries can also vote.

THIS POSTER was produced by the communist National Union of Students, and is displayed in colleges in east London. It advises left-wing students from outside Tower Hamlets (and from outside Britain) to register as voters in next May's local council elections in order to defeat the BNP — a dishonest attempt at subversion

Red demo flop wins headlines for BNP...

DESPITE two months of massive media publicity for the planned march in Bloxwich (Walsall) by the TUC and ANAL against the strong presence of the BNP in the area, only a hundred or so communists turned out on Saturday, 13th November. Most of those who pitched up were from well outside the area — some from as far afield as London.

The reds wound themselves into a frenzy when the BNP announced it would oppose the march, and local people demanded that the communist outsiders should be banned from the town. But in the true spirit of 'democracy', Walsall council instead banned the BNP counter-demonstration at King George V playing fields.

Nevertheless, the BNP did indeed demonstrate in Bloxwich that day, with a paper sale right in the centre of town. Our members were extremely encouraged by the warm welcome from local folk. After laying a wreath at the local war memorial, the BNP formed into two groups. One went off to distribute leaflets, while the other assembled along the route of the march to let the communists know they were not welcome in Bloxwich. As can be seen below, the day's activities generated massive front-page publicity for the BNP. Thanks, ANAL!

BOOKLET

THE ENEMY WITHIN: The latest booklet published by the British National Party, this consists of the text of a letter of complaint to the Broadcasting Complaints Commission following the Public Eye programme on the party in January. The Commission refused to consider the complaint on the ludicrous grounds that it was lodged 'out of time' (actually less than five months after the programme). The booklet, although it deals only with one specific TV programme, highlights the kind of lying and brainwashing techniques that are typical of television and the mass media generally. The Enemy Within is a good item to give out to people who sympathise with the political objectives of the BNP but believe the media smears they have heard about the party. 30p plus 19p p&p.

LEAFLET

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW! Latest British National Party leaflet, produced to spearhead the coming phase of the party's 1993 recruiting campaign. Deals with the BNP policies on the main issues affecting the British economy: Imports, the EC, Immigration, Mine closures, etc. It is essential that BNP local units start ordering this leaflet in big quantities and begin mass-distribution of the leaflet — NOW! £4.50 per 1,000 plus postage charges of £4.10 for 1,000 and £4.65 for 2,000.

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW!

Only the British National Party can rebuild British industry and restore full employment.

- Only the BNP will bring in selective import controls to protect our industries — just as the Japanese do.
- Only the BNP will put an end to Third World immigration, which increases the number of people competing for British jobs.
- Only the BNP will get Britain out of the European Community, which opens the door to European imports.
- Only the BNP will open more coal mines instead of closing them — the BNP will make Britain totally self-sufficient in energy production.
- Only the BNP will back British farmers and fishermen — the BNP will maintain a 200-mile limit to protect our fishing fleet from the encroachments of foreign trawlers.
- Only the BNP will supply the massive investment needed to rebuild our lost manufacturing industries.

None of the old parties can provide the leadership that Britain needs. Get Britain back to work — join the BNP now!

New Legal Fund Opened

RICHARD EDMONDS, although now released from custody by being granted bail, has to face trial along with three other British National Party activists sometime fairly early in the new year. It seems clear that political pressure is being brought to bear to ensure that these men receive terms of imprisonment, quite regardless of their guilt or innocence on the charges on which they are being accused.

It is essential that these men receive good legal representation, and for this reason we are reopening the Legal Fund that was launched in the past to deal with other cases. We are setting a target for the fund of £3,000. If it should transpire that legal expenses fall short of this figure, the balance will be set by as a reserve to help other BNP personnel needing legal help in the future. We ask everyone to contribute generously to this fund. Please send donations to BNP Legal Fund, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

YOUR LETTERS

Sir:- We 'ancient Brit' descendants are sick to death of the way that we are treated as second class citizens by the local council in Bradford.

Working class whites are sick to death of the way that Asian 'rights' are considered more important than the rights of native-born British people. Many of us would like to move out, but cannot afford to. The older generation of whites say they are glad that they are 'on the way out' and will not live to see the final destruction of the British people. The police only tell us to sell our houses and move away — but where to?

We were therefore overjoyed when Derek Beackon and his team won their magnificent victory in Millwall! For several days afterwards, local Brits seemed to regain their pride and self respect. It was the best thing to have happened in Britain for years, and let's hope we will have more victories soon.

Sir:- I have never written to a newspaper before, but I would like to say how impressed I am with your honest coverage of the 'race' issue. This is a subject which the rest of the national press has suppressed for far too long. I first bought a copy of BN from one of your door-to-door sellers, and have been buying a copy each month.

ALL SYSTEMS 'GO' FOR LOCAL ELECTIONS BID

THE BRITISH National Party is to mount a major campaign for votes during the Metropolitan council Elections in May.

The boroughs up for grabs are within Greater London, Greater Manchester, South Yorkshire, West Yorkshire, Merseyside, Birmingham and Tyne and Wear.

The London campaign is already in full swing, and further details are given in the special article on page eight.

BID FOR VOTES

But the BNP is also mounting a serious bid for votes in elections outside London. In most cases, these will be areas where the Party has already established a presence, and will be building on support which has been established over several months.

It is essential that local units should start their campaigns right now, if they haven't already done so.

The key to success, as always, will be canvassing. Activists should be establishing a regular paper round for sales of British Nationalist in the Wards which are being contested, over the next three months, it should be possible to visit all the houses on each ward at least once, and attempt to sell the householders a copy of the Party newspaper. Those who appear sympathetic to the BNP can then be visited once more in the fortnight before the election and reminded to make the effort to vote.

Canvassing is the most important election activity for the BNP. All other activities, such as leafleting, must take second place. Many estates in London now have hundreds of households who regularly buy British Nationalist each month, and are therefore likely to return a strong vote for the BNP during elections. This was precisely how we won Millwall.

MAIN ACTIVITY

The importance of elections cannot be stressed enough — indeed, it is now the main activity of the Party.

In the past, elections were something of a sideline, with the main emphasis being on winning media publicity and new recruits. Since Millwall, the Party has become saturated with thousands of new recruits and massive publicity.

We have now reached the phase of growth where further electoral success will generate far more new members than simply leafleting thousands of houses at random.

From now on, everything we do must be associated with the specific objective of winning a particular election. At this stage of our development, the Party is still concentrating on a few hand-picked local government seats in order to maximise our votes. The time for putting up hundreds of candidates across the country will come later.

The BNP is currently being restructured to reflect this new emphasis on winning elections. Discipline is being tightened up and activists are being given specific tasks and targets.

RESPONSIBLE

Now that public attention is being focused upon us, it is more important than ever that we come across as a responsible alternative to the old parties — a party fit to govern Britain. For make no doubt about it, this is what we are ultimately aiming for. To achieve this goal, we must first establish electoral credibility. The BNP is knocking on the door of power — and we intend to win!

DOOR-TO-DOOR papersales are the only effective way of winning big votes, and local units should be doing this RIGHT NOW in their chosen wards

BNP units welcomed in Coventry

COVENTRY British National Party organised a Day of Action held on Saturday, 11th of December.

The day started with a paper sale in Bedworth, a short distance to the north of Coventry. Local people were clearly delighted to see the Union Flags flying in their town centre shopping precinct, and many came over for a chat, expressing support for the BNP.

MAJOR ROLE

It will be remembered that the BNP played a major role earlier in the year in helping local residents prevent the opening of a proposed 'clinic' for sex-pervers and child-molesters being built on the edge of the town.

Following the paper sale the BNP team moved to a nearby housing estate and distributed Party leaflets door to door. The display of Union Flags brought people away from their TV sets to their windows and doors. The response from the public was excellent.

BRITISH FLAG

After about three hours hard work, the BNP was leaving the area when a squad of police vans turned up. The police claimed that they were concerned that display of the British flag might be 'provocative' to our opponents who were said to be nearby.

In fact, the BNP had experienced only friendly reactions from local folk, but being the party of law and order we reluctantly complied with the request.

After completing the activity, the BNP team held a very enjoyable social meeting at a nearby pub.

The day was a huge success thanks to the efforts of the Coventry unit and members of other midlands units who gave their support. The turnout was in fact very encouraging, considering that Christmas was so near.

'Combat 18' banned from BNP

THE BRITISH National Party wishes to make it known that it is not associated in any way with the group calling itself 'Combat 18'.

Henceforth, anyone who wishes to remain associated with C18 must leave the BNP. C18 will not be permitted to attend or distribute its literature at BNP meetings.

The reasons for this are as follows: Whilst the BNP has always recognised the right of nationalists to defend themselves from violent attack by our opponents, it appears that the leadership of C18 sees violence as an end in itself, and is calling on the BNP to abandon its political activities — a ludicrous suggestion in the light of our recent electoral success.

AGENTS PROVOCATEURS

There is growing evidence to suggest that C18 has been heavily infiltrated, and probably taken over, by Government agents who are acting as 'agents provocateurs' in order to incite nationalists into criminal activities, thereby making them vulnerable to arrest and imprisonment.

C18 has also been attempting to spread disunity within the BNP by attacking (physically or in print) leading BNP activists. The group is publishing a glossy and expensive magazine from an American PO Box, the language of which is far more 'racist' than that permitted under British law. This begs the question: Where are they getting the finance to publish this magazine, and why has the Government not chosen to prosecute C18 members for distributing it? The only logical answer is that C18's disruptive behaviour is serving the Government's own purposes.

OPPOSITION

The banning of C18 does not mean that the BNP has 'gone soft' on defending itself against violent attack. The Party will continue to hit back against any assault by the opposition — and hit back hard.

But we are in the business of serious politics; we are not a street gang or a 'secret army'.

EAST LONDON ELECTION BOOST

John Tyndall gives rousing speech as London units prepare to spearhead next round of elections

THURSDAY December 2nd saw the biggest and most important rally of the BNP in East London since the Millwall by-election victory in September.

Due to press interest in the Party since Millwall, no less than three TV camera crews were present — two of them from American networks and one from a British university. The reporters told the BNP that they were interested in the Party on the grounds that the huge growth of nationalism across Europe had now found a voice in Britain — in the shape of the BNP.

SPRINGBOARD

Billed as an East London Regional Development meeting, the rally held in Dagenham acted as a springboard for next May's council elections in London and also served to boost East London units as new members and supporters flocking to the Party were able to attend a meeting for the first time.

The intention was to invite new enquirers and supporters to the meeting to strengthen the East London units outside of the large and well-established Tower Hamlets branch. These units include Newham, Redbridge, Barking and Dagenham and Havering. Newcomers showed great enthusiasm and received the three speeches well.

STRATEGY FOR POWER

Redbridge organiser Anthony Lecomber spoke first. He outlined the Party's strategy for power following Millwall, expressing his belief that the BNP could emulate the success of the Front National in France. Essentially, the Party must become much more serious and political in its outlook and more professional in its approach. He finished by saying that the BNP was becoming visibly bigger and stronger, and that ultimately we must win!

It was revealed that in next May's metropolitan council elections, East London will be the Party's spearhead region, fighting the most sophisticated and widespread campaign ever. BNP candidates will be contesting seats in Barking and Dagenham, Redbridge and Newham to supplement the big push in Tower Hamlets. As Paul Witcher, the Barking and Dagenham organiser who chaired the meeting said: "After Millwall, the sky's the limit."

Steve Smith, the previous Tower Hamlets branch organiser (leading to the Millwall win!) and election candidate spoke next. He said Britain's historical political apathy stemmed partly from the fact that the country had not been conquered and occupied by a foreign power since 1066. This was in contrast to Germany, France and Italy where people as a result of defeat were much more politically aware and resisted immigration more strongly than the people of Britain.

RESISTANCE

But Steve concluded that this situation had completely changed since Millwall. Britain had now proudly joined the ranks of other European nations in resistance.

Following a collection which raised over £400, Party Leader John Tyndall delivered an excellent final speech which both aroused the rally and which was carefully delivered so as to exploit the cameras present for maximum effect. In a stirring conclusion John Tyndall slammed the old parties for their complete failure and incompetence. He was rewarded with a standing ovation when he vowed: "We will win!"

There is indeed every chance that the BNP could pick up more seats in next May's elections. But this will only be achieved by the sort of hard work and sacrifice that went into the Millwall campaign.

DEREK Beackon became Britain's first BNP councillor thanks to the hard work of election activists

YOUTHFUL supporters (Above) celebrated long into the night when Derek Beackon was elected to Tower Hamlets council last September. Since that momentous breakthrough, the British Nationalist Party has seldom been out of the news, whether at national or local level. The party is strongest in the London area, and East London units will be spearheading the election campaign in May 1994. The old parties are already so scared that they are trying to get hundreds of left-wing (and foreign) students to move into the area and register as voters in order to defeat the BNP. It is therefore essential that we don't become complacent. Next May's campaign will be even tougher than the Millwall by-election. For a start, the Party will be fighting several seats instead of just one. The old parties will ensure a high turnout of immigrants and left-wing voters, and there will certainly be a vicious media hate campaign against the BNP. This is to be expected, as the old gang politicians don't want to lose their lucrative jobs! All units should therefore be campaigning RIGHT NOW in the relevant wards — so long as we put in enough hard work, victory is entirely possible!

Tower Hamlets Liberals split over BNP victory

THE DESPERATE antics of the Tower Hamlets Liberal Democrats are truly astonishing, even by their own shabby standards.

Having failed to win the white vote in the borough by pretending to be against immigration, they are now going for the immigrant vote — by expelling three of their own councillors for producing the "racist" leaflets.

After confidently predicting last year that the BNP vote would "evaporate" the Lib Dems were somewhat dismayed when Derek Beackon became the first BNP councillor in Britain. It now seems that Peter Hughes' greasy little mob are now scared of being chucked out of office by further BNP gains next May.

THREATENING

Hughes has tried to nobble the press by issuing writs and threatening to withdraw advertising to newspapers daring to suggest growing support for the BNP.

But these paranoid antics merely serve to make the Liberals look even more ridiculous in the eyes of the public, and will only serve to strengthen support for the British Nationalist Party.

The "anti-racism" crusade by the old parties is ultimately self-defeating, because even if they win over the ten per cent or so immigrant population, the remaining ninety per cent white community overwhelmingly supports the British Nationalist Party.

By-election was NOT a protest vote

More seats for BNP warns race expert

A RACE relations expert dismissed claims that the Millwall result was a one-off protest vote and predicted more seats for the BNP in East London.

BY TIM BRYAN

London School of Economics professor Dr Chris Husbands said deep-seated racism lay at the heart of the matter and surfaced on the housing question.

He told the Advertiser: "If the BNP can take Millwall, not the most natural home for them, then they can take wards such as St Peter's in Bethnal Green and areas like Custom House and Silvertown in Newham."

And he reckons Hackney wards like Haggerston and Westcote could fall to them.

But he claimed the surge in the polls would be short-lived because the far-right in Britain don't possess the brains or the firepower for a consistent and credible campaign.

Unlike the French far right, British fascists have no intellectual tradition. Oswald Mosley was virtually alone as a talented leader in the old BUF.

The more seats they win the less credible candidates they will have to man positions.

"Support will fade but there'll be some bruising encounters especially at the next council elections."

He said the East End, like other London areas, had casual and unskilled jobs where workers fought each other for jobs.

But he said nowhere else in the capital played host to so many immigrants, this increased the problems and led to a deep-seated mistrust of outsiders. They were a threat.

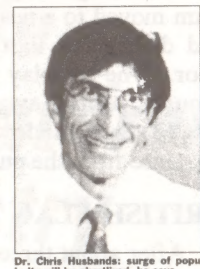

"If the far-right were to win anywhere in Britain it would have to have been the East End. A combination of factors put them in in Millwall."

"It's a white, poor, closely-knit, working class community, with a local economy ripped out from within by new developments."

Tower Hamlets Council has been cooking a snook at directives to allocate more homes to Asians for a long while.

"It's record hardly defends itself. Houses had to go to them in the end but the policy could have been handled more sensitively."

"Housing was the catalyst not the cause of the BNP win."

Dr. Chris Husbands: surge of popularity will be short-lived, he says
